In search of a new Afghanistan is a bold attempt to release one from the mainstream rhetoric, perceptions and opinion on Afghanistan. It provides a daring new outlook, denouncing several myths that colour common global perception of this war ravaged country. Several lesser known facts are unveiled, while, elaborating, the thrill and challenges of working in Afghanistan, from ground zero.

About the Author:

Sujeet Sarkar, is engaged in promoting and strengthening democratic governance and civil society in fragile and conflict prone countries, over the past 15 years. Currently working as an international advisor, in a globally reputed organization; the author is supporting the portfolio of governance and civil society in selected countries across Africa and Asia, including Afghanistan.

‘A well-researched and yet intimate account of contemporary Afghanistan, Sujeet Sarkar’s first-hand analysis is both informative and insightful.’

—Dr. Shashi Tharoor,
Former Minister of State for External Affairs

‘In Search of a New Afghanistan is a bold and fresh look at the war, with insights you won’t find elsewhere. If you truly want to understand what happened this past decade, let Sarkar be your guide.’

—Anand Gopal,
International War Reporter

‘Sujeet Sarkar’s account of the current crisis in Afghanistan is a refreshing look at the challenges faced by the country, post 9/11. The pertinent successes stories in this well-researched book do tell us that not all is lost in Afghanistan.’

—Mohammed Ehsan Zia,
Ex-Cabinet Minister, MRRD of Afghanistan
